```
        F
(1) The guilty undertaker sighs
        Ami
    The lonesome organ grinder cries
        Dmi
    The silver saxophones say
      C
    I should refuse you

        Bb
(2) The cracked bells and washed-out horns
    C
    Blow into my face with scorn
        Dmi
    But it's not that way
                      C
    I wasn't born to lose you

      F             Ami
(R) I want you, I want you
      Dmi           C
    I want you so bad
              F
    Honey, I want you

        F
(3) The drunken politician leaps
     Ami
    Upon the street where mothers weep
            Dmi
    And the saviors who are fast asleep
         C
    They wait for you

        Bb
(4) And I wait for them to interrupt
       C
    Me drinkin' from my broken cup
        Dmi
    And ask me to
                C
    Open up the gate for you

        Ami
(I) Now all my fathers, they've gone down
    Dmi
    True love they've been without it
        Ami
    But all their daughters put me down
           Bb               C
    'Cause I don't think about it

               F
(5) Well, I return to the Queen of Spades
        Ami
    And talk with my chambermaid
    Dmi
    She knows that I'm not afraid
    To look at her

Bb
(6) She is good to me
And there's nothing she doesn't see
Dmi
She knows where I'd like to be
C
But it doesn't matter

F
(7) Now your dancing child with his Chinese suit
Ami
He spoke to me, I took his flute
Dmi
No, I wasn't very cute to him
C
Was I?

Bb
(8) But I did it, though, because he lied
Because he took you for a ride
Dmi
And because time was on his side
And because I...
